

Andrew Akhlaghi

Ph.D Student

915-474-9639

Department of History

email: akhlaghi.andrew@gmail.com

University of Texas- Austin

Education:

2016- Present

Pursuing Ph.D in History (University of Texas- Austin)

2014- 2016

MA in International and Area Studies (University of Oklahoma),

Thesis Title: “No Easy Thing to Understand: A Historiography of the Iranian Constitutional Revolution.”

2007- 2010

BA in Political Science (Johns Hopkins University), General Honors

Teaching:

Fall 2015

Head Teaching Assistant for IAS 2003: Understanding the Global Community

- Responsible for three other Teaching Assistants
- Taught one discussion section per week
- Designed D2L course website for four sections and 92 students

Invited Lectures:

Fall 2015

Lecturer for Modern Iran for HON 2973: Middle East since World War I (Dr. Joshua Landis)

Academic Presentations:

November 2015

“The Geopolitics of Famine: An examination of the Tehran bread riots of 1942,” presented at Southwest Conference on Asian Studies, Texas Christian University

Commentator:

March 2017

Chair and Moderator for panel “Perspective on Ottoman Civilization” at Rethinking Late Ottoman Civilization, at University of Texas at Austin

Editing:

- Fall 2015 University of Oklahoma Journal of Undergraduate Iranian Studies, co-editor
- Edited eight articles for content, grammar, and style according to Chicago Manual of Style rules
 - Supervised five associate editors
 - Communicated with writers and editors to approve final edits and layout
- Winter 2009 Editor for Mishkat al Moumin, former Iraqi Minister of the Environment
- Edited article “Transition to Peace: Examining Divergent Approaches to Enacting Post-Conflict Environmental Laws in Afghanistan and El Salvador” for publication in Georgetown International Environmental Law Review

Research Languages:

Persian : Advanced Middle (ACTFL scale)

Arabic : Advanced Reading Knowledge (three years of coursework using Al-Kitab curriculum)

Awards:

- 08/2014- University of Oklahoma Graduate College Fellowship
- 05/2016
- 06/2015 PARSA Persian Language Scholarship, awarded by OU Iranian Studies Foundation
- 07/2013 Army Commendation Medal
- 09/2012 Army Achievement Medal