The Society for Iranian Studies

Volume VII Number 1 Jan. 1975

Address all communications to the Secretary of the Society for Iranian Studies, P.O. Box 89, Village Station, New York, N. Y. 10014, U.S.A.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SOCIETY

The Society's Eighth Annual Meeting was held on Thursday, November 7, 1974, at Hotel Statler Hilton in Boston (Massachusetts). Our panels on "Literature and Society in Iran" and "The Role of Women in Iran" were well attended and extremely successful. On behalf of the Society, I would like to thank our program director, Professor William Beeman, for organizing these two panels. I would also like to thank all those who delivered papers and participated in our panels.

The annual business meeting was held in the late afternoon. The following reports were submitted by the Society's officers. (These reports have been updated to include the period since the meeting in November.)

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE SECRETARY (Farhad Kazemi) (The report was delivered by the Acting Executive Secretary, Ervand Abrahamian.)

Membership. The Society has continued to increase its members in the past year. The Society now has 247 members. This is an increase of 36 during the past year. In addition to our members, some 50 individuals and over 120 institutions subscribe to our journal.

Our international membership has also continued to increase. Fifty-four of our members live outside the United States: 32 in Iran, 5 in Japan, 5 in England, and the others in such diverse places as France, Denmark, Sweden, Switzerland, Egypt, Afghanistan, Australia, and the Fiji Islands.

As the following table indicates, most of the members are in the academic disciplines of History, Near Eastern Languages and Literatures, Linguistics, Political Science, and Economics. The disciplines not identified in the table are mostly in the physical sciences or medicine.

DISCIPLINE	NUMBER
History	58
Languages and Lingsuitics	48

Total	247

REPORT OF THE TREASURER (Ann Schulz)

The Society's financial situation continued to improve in 1974, despite the increased costs of publishing the Journal. This is due to several factors--increased donation levels, journal sales, and the continued support of the membership.

Donations formed a substantial proportion of the Society's budget during the last year. They were received from individuals as well as institutions. As some of the members may know, the Society received an institutional contribution of $500.00 from the University of Texas in 1974 (and has also received similar support from Princeton University in 1975). These grants have been extremely helpful and the Society's gratitude has been conveyed to both universities. Professor Gene Garthwaite of Dartmouth College spent many hours contacting various Middle East Centers throughout the United States, seeking support for the Society. Our appreciation is conveyed to him as well.

Professor Vahid Nowshirvani has actively and successfully sought financial support for the Society in Iran during the past year. Both Professors Nowshirvani and Garthwaite are filling a need which the Society has had for a number of years--someone willing to make the commitment to fund-raising.

The journal sales have increased and will continue to do so as the Isfahan issues are available. As you can see in the Balance Sheet, the Society was responsible for only $500.00 of the total cost of the two issues. The remaining (app.) $10,000 was underwritten by the Fogg Museum at Harvard. It has been a year of much cooperative effort and tremendously helpful to the Society.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE SOCIETY

The Society would like to thank Texas University and Princeton University, together with the following individuals, for their generous financial contributions toward the Society: Yahya Armajani, Ahmad Ashraf, Ali Banuazizi, Amin Banani, James Bill, Dale Bishop, Iraj Bashiri, Timothy Childs, Richard Cottam, Fereydoun Firoozi, Gene Garthwaite, Bijan Guilani, Farhad Kazemi, Hamid Ladjevardi, Jacqueline Minz, Hosseine Morewedge, Vahid Nowshirvani, Manoucher Parvin, Mohammad Shafii, Reza Sheikholeslami, Gerhard Tikku, Joseph Upton, Marvin Zonis.

REPORT OF THE EDITOR OF IRANIAN STUDIES (Ali Banuazizi)

The past year (1974) was one of unprecedented growth for the Journal. With the publication of five issues (Vol. VI, No. 4; Vol. VII, Nos. 1-4), we were finally able to eliminate a long-standing lag in our publishing schedule and to go on a regular schedule as of winter, 1975.

The appearance of the proceedings of the Fogg Museum's international colloquium on Isfahan as a special, 750-page volume was a significant achievement for the Journal. This was made possible through the kind and active support of Professor Oleg Grabar, the primary organizer of the conference at Harvard, the tireless and skilfull work of Renata Holod as the guest editor of the volume, and the generous financial support of the Fogg Art Museum which subsidized the publication. It is our hope that similar volumes of conference proceedings or issues devoted entirely to one topic could be published in the near future. And, in fact, plans for two such volumes are already underway.

With the forthcoming issue of the Journal (winter, 1975), Ms. Anna Enayat will join us as Associate Editor. A former editor of Iran's only English-language journal in economics, Tahqiqat-e Eqtesadi, Ms. Enayat is currently a member of the Faculty of Economics at the University of Tehran and an active researcher in the fields of economics and sociology. Situated in Tehran and in touch with a wide segment of the Iranian social-science community, she is certain to be able to widen the base of the Journal by helping to increase its readership and solicit contributions from Iranian scholars.

A. Reza Sheikholeslami, whose work as Associate Editor over the past two years has been invaluable to the Journal and whose rigorous and high standards have helped to improve its quality, will no longer hold that position. He will, however, continue to maintain a close working relationship with us. The Journal and the Society are indebted to him for his many contributions.

No one could have been more pleased with Jerry Clinton's return to the United States to accept a position at Princeton last fall than I was. His proximity to the production line would enhance his substantial contribution to all editorial matters once again.

Last but not least, I would like to take this opportunity to express my special gratitude to many individuals who generously advised and assisted me in the work of the Journal over the past year. Among them I feel especially indebted to Ervand Abrahamian, Marina Banuazizi, Gene Garthwaite, Vahid Nowshirvani, and Marvin Zonis.

ELECTIONS TO THE COUNCIL

The Annual Business Meeting appointed Mohamad Jazayery, James Bill, and Michael Hillman as the "Election Committee" to organize the balloting. The following nominations were submitted to the Society: William Archer, Jerome Clinton, Farhad Kazemi, Kenneth Luther, Hamid Mahamedi, Thomas Ricks, T. Cuyler Young, Senior. The election was conducted by mail and the ballots were sent directly to the "election committee" in Austin (Texas). The following 3 were elected to the council for 1975-77: Jerome Clinton, Farhad Kazemi, Cuyler Young.

I would like to thank the members of the "election committee" in Austin, especially Mohamad Jazayery, for having mailed out the ballots and having counted the results.

1975 ANNUAL MEETING IN LOUISVILLE (KENTUCKY)

Thomas Ricks, of the History Department at Macalester College, has been appointed the program director for the next annual conference to be held on November 6, 1975. Our panels, which are co-sponsored by MESA, will be devoted to the following three topics:

1. Craft Practices and Transmission
2. The Power of the Family
3. Economic Transformation of Iran.

NEWS OF MEMBERS

Thomas Ricks, Jerome Clinton, William Hanaway, Donald Croll, and Michael Hillmann have contributed articles and translations to The Literary Review's Fall 1974 special issue on Iran. The issue can be obtained for $2.50 from Fairleigh Dickinson University Press, Box 421, Cranbury, N. J. 08512.

Abbas Heydari has been appointed Deputy Director of the Economic Research Department of the Central Bank of Iran.

Cuyler Young, Senior, is teaching at the University of Texas in Austin during Spring 1975.

Hamid Mahamedi is spending the current academic year as a Visiting Lecturer of Iranian Studies at the University of Pennsylvania.

Sharough Akhavi and Michael Fischer are in Tehran during the current academic year to study the process of secularization in Iran.

William Hanaway has published Love and War: Adventures from the Firuz Shah Nama of Sheikh Bighami (New York: Scholars' Facsimiles and Reprints, 1974).

Ludwig Adamec has published Afghanistan's Foreign Affairs to the Mid-Twentieth Century: Relations With the USSR, Germany and Britain (Univ. of Arizona Press, 1974), Historical and Political Who's Who of Afghanistan (Austria: Akademische Druck- u. Verlagsanstalt, 1974).

James Bill has co-authored with Carl Leiden, The Middle East: Politics and Power (Boston: Allyn and Bacon, 1974).

Vahid Nowshirivani has been carrying out research on the history of economic development in Iran.

Ali Banuazizi was in Tehran during January 1975 working on social indicators.

Farhad Kazemi has completed his research in Tehran and is now in New York writing on the consequences of rapid urbanization in Iran.

Hormoz Hekmat is teaching at Tehran University and researching for the Plan Organization.

Majid Tehranian visited United States in January to negotiate with Harvard University for the establishment of a new university in Mazandaran.

Marvin Zonis and Ervand Abrahamian participated in a workshop on Elites in the Middle East sponsored by the Social Science Research Council in New York in March 1975.

Ann Schulz organized a conference on Nuclear Energy and the Near-Nuclear Countries at Clark University in April 1975.

Members are encouraged to send news concerning their academic activities to the secretary of the society.
